Provide basic first aid for animals (RELEASE 1)

Unit description

This unit of competency covers the process of providing essential first aid for animals by recognising and responding to an emergency using basic first aid measures. The first aider is not expected to deal with complex casualties or incidents, but to provide an initial response where first aid is required.

No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Application of the unit

This unit is applicable to new entrants to the animal care and management industry. Animal care may occur in a wide variety of workplaces, including retail pet stores, kennels and catteries, shelters, veterinary practices, zoos, animal research facilities and others.

In addition to legal and ethical responsibilities, all units of competency in the ACM Animal Care and Management Training Package have the requirement for animals to be handled gently and calmly. The individual is required to exhibit appropriate care for animals so that stress and discomfort are minimised.

Estimated duration of unit

This unit is delivered in two days (6 hours per day), comprising theory, practical delivery, and some practical assessments. Students are also required to complete written assessments and review of materials at home in their own time. Students have 2 weeks from the end of the delivery days to complete and return written assessments.

Expected delivery locations

The unit is primarily delivered at the Sydney Shelter (201 Rookwood Road, Yagoona), with occasional delivery at regional centres if there is sufficient demand.

Expected delivery modes

This course is face-to-face learning.

Entry requirements

- Due to RSPCA policy, students must be at least 18 years old, with the appropriate approval to work or study in Australia.
- There are no education requirements for entry into this course.
- Due to the nature of the animal industry, emotional resilience is advantageous.

Unit content

This unit covers the following areas:

- Recognising emergency situations
- Identifying hazards
- Minimising risks
- Assessing the physical condition of the animal and recording vital signs
- Reassuring the animal
- Handling the animal in a safe and humane manner to minimise pain and further injuries
- Applying basic first aid care to a range of animals
- Seeking first aid assistance when required
- Complying with Workplace Health and Safety requirements when handling animals

Job roles

Job role titles this unit may be relevant to may include:

- Animal care attendant
- Animal shelter attendant
- Kennel hand
- Cattery attendant

Fee information

The full cost of the course is $440.00. This course is not eligible for VET FEE-HELP. Full payment must be made no later than two weeks after enrolment. If enrolment occurs within two weeks of course commencement, payment must be made at time of enrolment.

Any person requiring a refund of fees paid must do so in writing in accordance with the refund policy outlined below. A $16 administration fee is non-refundable in every case.

The RSPCA NSW training team will refund part of a course payment when:

- A student has cancelled more than 14 days prior to the course commencement. In this case, the student will receive 75% of the remaining amount (remaining amount = fees paid minus non-refundable administration fee)
- A student has cancelled less than 14 days prior to the commencement. In this case, the student will receive 50% of the remaining amount (remaining amount = fees paid minus non-refundable administration fee)

RSPCA NSW will not refund course fees once the course has commenced. RSPCA NSW may need to cancel, postpone, or reschedule a course when necessary due to low enrolment numbers or due to extraordinary circumstances. If this occurs, the student will be offered an alternative date or a full refund. Application for a refund can be made by completing the Application for a Refund Form found in the Student Handbook, which can be downloaded from rspcansw.org.au/what-wedo/training/.
